EBERT WILL INSIST ON GETTING WILSON PEACE

WILL NOT TAKE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF SIGNING FINAL PACT IF ENEMY NATIONS IMPOSE OTHER PUNISHMENTS

WANTS FOOD TO KILL REVOLUTION

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright 1919 by the United Press)

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—Chancellor Ebert told the United Press today that Germany will do everything to comply with the peace conditions based on President Wilson's fourteen points but that if the Allies make further demands he will not take the responsibility of signing the peace terms. He said Germany needs peace immediately so as to get food and material that her people can go to work. He declared that the Spartacans had lost their revolution and that no serious outbreaks will occur if the people are fed.

"We must be ready for anything. We must have peace," declared Ebert. "We stand on President Wilson's fourteen points on which basis we signed the armistice. We will do everything to comply with the conditions but it is possible our enemy will make further demands. Germany cannot accept them. I could not take the responsibility for signing the peace terms in that case. I could not take the consequences so I would resign."

Asked about the responsibility for the war, Ebert said, "That is a question I cannot answer off hand. I feel the blame was not Germany's alone." Discussing the Spartacan uprising, he said, "We want peace immediately so we can have food and material that will enable the people to go to work."

Ebert said: "The charge that the government encouraged the disorder so as to escape its debts is absolutely false. The reason the government did nothing against the Bolsheviki at the beginning of the revolution was that the army flocked homeward after the armistice was signed, disorganized and useless. Now that the government forces have been reorganized we intend to use every means to suppress Bolshevikism which is an enemy to society. There are still some Bolsheviki leaders in some centers outside of Berlin. Examination of captured Spartacans showed them to be under-nourished and subnormal and the people must be fed if we do not want a revolution. If they are not fed we must be ready for anything."

RUSSIAN SITUATION DISCUSSED BY PEACE DELEGATES AT QUAY D' ORSAY

(By United Press)

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The Russian situation problem was taken up by representatives of the associated powers at a meeting at the Quay d'Orsay this afternoon. "The President of the United States and the prime ministers of the various ministries of the Allied powers assisted by Baron Makino, the Japanese ambassador in Paris, met at the Quay d'Orsay this morning between 10:30 and 12 o'clock," an official announcement said.

M. Moulens, French ambassador to Russia, who returned a few days ago from Archangel, addressed the meeting and gave particulars of the Russian situation. The next meeting will take place on Thursday at 10:30 in the morning.

President Wilson and Senator Berguis, French authority on the League of Nations conferred this afternoon. They exchanged views on the league for the first time. A special report on the result of this meeting was to be taken before the conference. M. Savinoff, former Russian minister, held numerous conferences with the associated representatives today.

The tellers certified that the following candidates received the highest number of votes cast for the various offices mentioned below and are hereby declared elected to the respective offices for the term beginning April 1st, 1919, to March 31st, 1921:

President—John Brophy, Nanty-Glo.

Vice-President—James Marks, DuBois.

Secretary-treasurer—Richard Gilbert, Clearfield.

National Board Member—William Donaldson, DuBois.

Auditors and Tellers—John R. Dodds, Portage; Philip Lund, Grass lat; U. Ed. Swartzentruver, South Fork.

District Board Member

Territory 1—William Welsh, Nanty-Glo.

Territory 2—Harry Crago, Philipsburg.

Territory 3—James Feeley, Dunlo.

Territory 4—A. W. Jones, Six-Mile Run.

Territory 5—Herman Carletti, Wishaw.

Territory 6—Peter Ferera, Indiana.

Territory 7—Alex McMullen, Madera.

Territory 8— Sam Nunamaker, Dutch Hill.

Territory 9—S. J. Hudzenski, Morris Run.

These officers and district board members will be in charge of affairs when the annual meeting is held this spring, at which time the scale agreemeta expires. It is expected that this annual spring meeting will be one of the most important that has been held in several years, and it is certain that the new scale will come in for a large amount of attention, both on the part of the operators and the miners.

LETTER FROM COUNCHLMAN ALFRED GRAHAM

St Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 16, 1918

Dear Friend Connelly:

This short letter finds us all well and enjoying ourselves very much in the sunny south. St. Petersburg is some city. With swell city buildings fine large banks, stores and hotels, lots of them and lots of cafeterias.

We can live cheaper here than you can in Clearfield. We can buy grape smaller sizes two for 5c, oranges 20 smaller sizes two for 5c, oranges 20 cents per dozen at retail, and if one goes out into the country before the dealers get them you can buy all you can carry for 10 cents per dozen. They lay on the ground under the trees like apples at home in the fall. In the grapefruit groves the limbs of the trees touch the ground on account of their loads of luscious fruit.

We are sitting out in the park without overcoats, playing checkers or pitching quoits in the balmy sunshine. I see by The Progress you had a little zero weather up there.

This is a strong Woodrow Wilosn city. Regards to all our local friends.

Yours respectfully
ALFRED GRAHAM

WILL ATTEND INAUGURATION

The following Clearfield Republicans will attend the inauguration of Governor Sproul at Harrisburg tomorrow: Hon. Joseph E. Phillips, John M. Bain, D. W. Anderson, A. T. Kearney, Wade I. Stewart, Editor G. A. Stewart, of The Progress, Prothonotary John H. Moore, Register and Recorder E. B. Chase and County Commissioner H. H. Spencer.

100 FIREMEN ATTEND MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY EVENING

More than one hundred members of the Clearfield Fire Department attended services at the West Side Methodist Episcopal church last evening when Rev. C. C. Snavely preached the annual memorial sermon to the department.

In addition to the regular church services the choir had arranged an espeically pleasing musical program and an impressive and highly interesting service was the result.

Rev. Snavely's sermon was a masterpiece, in which he paid his respects to Benjamin Franklin, whose birthday was remembered when the date for the firemen's annual memorial was selected. He paid briefly eloquent tribute to the memories of the five members of the department who departed this life during 1918 and closed with a moving theological discussion in which he took his text from II Corinthians Last Chapter and 13th verse. He interpreted the eloquent words of Paul in a highly convincing manner and pointed the way to the life worth while in plain and unmistakable terms.

The church was filled to overflowing and the firemen were greatly pleased over the selection of the church and preacher for their memorial this year and the success of their service.

GOING BACK

Thomas G. McCausland, registrar of vital statistics for Philipsburg borough and Rush township, has completed his compilation of the mortuary record for the year 1918 and forwarded his report to the State Department of Health. Owing primarily to the influenza epidemic the death rate during the past year is exceptionally high. In the borough of Philipsburg there were 89 deaths during the year and 83 births. Rush township's deaths numbered 136, with 126 births.

Sergeant C. H. Kelly and wife (nee Ethel White) are visiting the former's parents Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Kelly of Pittsburgh.

Squire James Ruffner and Charley Gill were down from Madera on business at the court house today.

WOMEN DOMINATE [illegible] ELECTION HELD TODAY

INDEPENDENT SOCIALISTS WIN IN BERLIN BUT THE EBERT FORCES CARRY EVERYWHERE EXCEPT RHINELAND

WOMEN VOTE LARGER THAN MALE

By FRANK J. TAYOLR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—The national election in Germany today was dominated by women who voted and run for office for the first time in the hsitory of the country. In practically every district the women were in a great majority over the men. The Majority Socialists expect to have their way in most parts of the country. The Independent Socialists polled a big vote in Berlin, while the Catholic Conservative expected to win in the Rhineland but [illegible] where the Ebert-Schiedeman followers expected to win. More than ninety per cent. of the qualified voters in Berlin took advantage of the equal franchise.

In view of the fact that dispatches from Copenhagen reported serious fighting in Berlin late yesterday and last night resulting in the Spartacans destroying ballot boxes, it is evident that Taylor's dispatch was filed before the disorder became general and that his dispatch was heavily censored.

BULGARIAN CABINET RESIGNS

(By United Press)

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Bulgarian cabinet has resigned, according to a Sofia dispatch today.

ONLY ONE MORE BOND CAMPAIGN

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—There will be but one more Liberty Loan campaign. Of this the Treasury Department was certain.

DOUBLY AFFLICTED

With profound regret and sincere sorrow Clearfield learned of the death of Mrs. Fred Bartley (nee Jessie Flegal) this morning at her home on Linden street at 7:15 o'clock. Mrs. Bartley was sick out one week with influenza, complications setting in. She leaves a sorrowing husband who is also seriously ill with pneumonia, and one daughter Jane.

Mrs. Bartley was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flegal who survive, also several brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Bartley was a kind and loving wife and mother and will be sadly missed by her loved ones. Mr. and Mrs. Flegal have the sympathy of the community as another daughter, Mrs. Temple, is also suffering with the dreaded disease and has been a patient at the Clearfield hospital for several months.

Funeral announcement later.

AN APOLOGY

To the good folks who left their homes on Saturday night and traveled to the High School expecting to hear Mina Spaulding in the first number of the Woman's Club lecture course The Progress Ad-Man most humbly asks your pardon.

Miss Spaulding will appear tonight, instead of Saturday night as advertised in The Progress.

CITY HALL AT CORRY BURNS

Corry, Pa., Jan. 20—Four firemen were suffocated, one of them dying, when fire destroyed the City Hall with a loss of $75,000 today. Wm. Simson, Bob Clark, Cecil Slagle and Eddie Welsh were asleep in the store room in the City Hall. All were revived but Simson.

GOOD ROADS CLUB WILL PROCURE A FINE SPEAKER

Those in charge of the movement looking to the formation of the Clearfield County Good Roads Association have arranged to send invitations to the different interests, individuals, organizations and municipal bodies throughout the county asking that delegates be sent to the organization meeting to be held sometime during next week. It was thought that the meeting should be held Friday or Saturday of this week but on account of shortness of time to properly advertise and because of a press of other business it was decided to call the meeting for next week.

An effort will be made to secure a competent speaker to address the meeting and with that end in view a committee consisting of John M. Bain, D. W. Anderson and Farm Agent A. T. Kearney will visit Harrisburg on Tuesday and endeavor to secure a suitable person.

Invitations will be issued just as soon as the speaker has been secured, and it is possible to tell what day next week will suit for the meeting.

This is a vitally important project for all of Clearfield county and every community should be represented in this coming organization. It aims to enlist the aid of every citizen in securing roads that will benefit every section. Get in line and be a booster of the movement.

BUTTER IS EIGHTY CENTS PER POUND

Licenses for the sale of oleomargerine during 1919 issued at the state diary and food bureau aggregate within a thousand of the total number issued during 1918. The total licenses for last year was 5,350, which broke all records. The total issued thus far for 1919 is almost 4,600. Oleomargarine licenses netted $461,390.01 in 1918.

GIDEON AND CONSCRIPTION

Robert W. Smith, Secretary of the Selective Service Board for District No. 1 of Blair county, is somewhat of a student of the Scriptures and when addressing a draft contingent ready to leave Altoona for army service gave the boys a little history of the operation of the first selective service on record. Secretary Smith's research disclosed the fact that "cold feet" was an ancient ailment and that the average Pennsylvanian is a much better man, physically speaking, than were the old timers whom Gideon was called upon to summon to the battle for righteousness. The Secretary's speech in part follows:

"Let us recall the olden story of the first drafted men on earth. Gideon was the commander of the Israelites. He had an army of 32,000 men at his back. He sought to draft out of that army only the strongest and best warriors to fight the enemy. He thereupon constituted himself the first selective service board in the history of the world. His first draft order was that all his soldiers, who had dependents, or were slackers, or who were afraid and wanted to go home, might go. Thereupon, 22,000 Israelites deserted the colors and went home, leaving 10,000 comrades behind to fight the battle. The commander then proceeded to separate the physically disqualified from the army. So this novel test of efficiency was applied. The 10,000 soldiers were marched down to a stream and commanded to drink. Ninety-seven hundred soldiers got down on all fours to drink, thereby proving that they were physically unfit, lacking both the agility and virility to wage successful combat against the foe. But the three hundred remaining soldiers were so eager for the coming fray, so alert against any possible surprise attack of the enemy, that they disdained to stoop and kneel. They stood erect. Each one scooped up the water in the palms of his hands, and drank. These brisk, energetic men, swift of limb and steady of purpose, were the soldiers chosen in the selective service of the long, long ago. Better three hundred picked men, than 32,000 doubtful fighters for Gideon's army. Holy Writ tells us, that these drafted men were entrusted with the sword of the Lord and of Gideon, and achieved a glorious victory. The American nation enters the world war, for the sake of justice, righteousness and humanity. She is calling her sons to rally around her banner, as modern Gideons, that freedom and equality and liberty, may not perish from the earth."

WHEN WE NEED MONEY

When do we really need money so badly that it is necessary for us to sell our Liberty Bonds? This is a question that must be decided by a man himself and two factors must be considered; the necessities of the situation and his responsibility to his country. There are without a doubt many times when a man in justice to himself and in order to meet conditions may sell his bonds. It is unfortunate that those so situated are forced to accept low prices for their bonds because so many are thoughtlessly selling their bonds for no other purpose than to obtain money to expend for luxuries and unnecessary articles.

Primarily the Liberty Bond was but is not intended as a medium of exchange. It was and is a savings account. The war made every Liberty Bond holder just the amount of his bonds richer than he was before the war. It was not intended that every man should immediately step up to the counter and ask for his money back as soon as the figthing ceased. It is indeed a wise and fortunate man who can hold his bonds until maturity and reap the benefit of the coupon interest. The buying of a bond was a patriotic act. When we bought them we loaned our government that amount of money for twenty or thirty years or whatever term of years the bond calls for. To sell that bond to buy an auto or a piano or for any other reason except to pay living expenses in case of illness or for some other equally pressing reason is not being fair to our government. It may be likened to renting a man a home for a year and then putting him out at the end of two months.

We hear many stories of bonds being sold for five to fifteen dollars less than was paid for them. All of these transactions take place on the street or in business places where there are "bond pirates" ready to take advantage of the incredulous bond holder. This morning we heard of a bond being sold for $35. The transaction took place in a bar room. The seller first listened to a lengthy discourse on the low price of the bonds and was thereby prepared for the low offer. The seller, under these circumstances, would not have been able to sell his gold watch for a better price.

When we really need money and must have it we should consult our banker. In many instances we can borrow the money and put the bond up for security. In this manner we hold our bond for its full maturity value, we fulfill our obligation to our country and meanwhile enjoy the interest which the bond carries. There are instances of where the "bond pirates" have bought bonds for as low as $25 and immediately mailed them to a bond house where he sold them for $45.

Hold your bonds. Don't listen to the fellow who trys to tell you they are not worth what you paid for them. The fellows who are selling their bonds are responsible for the low prices they now bring.

WORCESTER NEW YORK CHICAGO

Who Is On the Lord's Side?

By REV. J. H. RALSTON, D. D.
Secretary of Correspondence Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Whoso is on Jehovah's side let him come unto me.—Ex. V.

It is related that at a certain point in Lincoln's presidential experience, when the affairs of the Union were in a precarious condition, a friend remarked to him that it was a good thing to have the Lord on our side. Mr. Lincoln very seriously replied that he was more concerned about whether he were on the Lord's side. There are indications that the German kaiser is more concerned on having the Lord on his side than about being on the Lord's side.

The natural tendency of man is to seek his own or the things of humanity, rather than the things of the Lord, and man is simply asking what some particular course will bring to him, or what it will bring to his time. The chief end of man in these days is not to glorify God. In this, grievous wrong is done. When a course of action is before one, the chief question should not be, "How will it affect me?" nor, indeed, "How will it affect my neighbor?" but "How will it affect God?"

The great need of the day is a new sensing of God—God at the beginning, God in the middle, God at the ending. The right thing for man is to ask where God is, and to go where he is. If man would do that many of his great theological questions would be settled. God manifests himself through his Word, and if men would go to the Word of God with these questions they would soon be substantially correct on all of them.

The text suggests the question, "Who is on the Lord's side?" or rather, "What man or woman has a right to say that he is on the Lord's side?"

In the particular case before us, the people had made a golden calf and were worshiping it. To do that was to break the first two commandments of the Decalogue, and it became open idolatry. It is inevitable that a man worship. If he does not worship God he will worship some thing, or some one else. Nor can a man be on the Lord's side if he does those things that the Lord hates.

If a man would know his duty to the Lord he should seek to know what the Lord thinks of certain things, and here again he must take the Lord's judgment through his Word, for he cannot know what the Lord thinks unless he knows his Word. As to particular actions, a man may be left to his own judgment, but as to the great principles that lie at the root of things, the Lord makes clear declaration in his Word. Does the Lord love a liar, brutality, deception? The remnant of God's image in man says at once, "No! No!" Does the Lord favor truth, liberty, kindness? That same remnant of God's image says, "Yes! Yes!" And consequently, the duty is clear, and he should stand for these things. We might sum up everything by saying, "Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

The scene connected with our text was probably this: There was a golden calf and people were dancing about it. Moses stood aloof and made the cry, "Whoso is on the Lord's side, let him come to me." According to the constitution and nature of man we make appeals to him as to his conscience, to his sense of duty or privilege, and he must make choice.

What is it to be on the Lord's side? It is a natural inheritance from our sinning first parents that we will either be indifferent to God's commands or we will positively refuse to obey them. Fundamentally, the issue is the same. In the case before us, the worshiper of the golden calf either continued his dancing and worship, or just endeavored to be neutral. A man must "come across;" he must take a positive stand. The position of a neutral is the position of the enemy of God. There are no neutrals in our country now as to Germany. Politically we were neutral until the president said that a state of war existed, but now the neutral is a pro-German. We must be out and out for the United States of America. A man's religious obligations could be illustrated by taking the two sides of an imaginary line, and to an imaginary line there can be only two sides. It is one thing or it is the other. We must be positively, clearly, professionally on God's side, or we are against him. In the day in which we are living the ideals and motives are to be more sharply defined than in former days.

An eloquent man said very recently that heretofore men were living to make money, and now they are dying to preserve righteousness, a tremendous reversal of form. Precisely so of a man's actions: if their character is to be determined by whether they are right in the sight of God rather than whether they have been personally or socially beneficial, man will arrive at the realization of the purpose of God and of the realization of his own greatest happiness.

WHAT IS CHILD WELFARE WORK

Of all the phases of work the Department of Civic Relief is taking up, none perhaps strikes us as being quite so important as Child Welfare

The movement is really an effort to awaken each community to a realization of its duty in safeguarding the health of its children

There are always, in every community, children who lack care thru lack of knowledge or time of the parents, or thru sheer indifference Also at present, there are hundreds of children who have been left orphans or half orphans, with no one willing to take the responsibility of caring for them

It is just such cases that the Child Welfare work aims to help

At the opening meeting of the Northwestern District, State Federation of Pennsylvania Women the subject will be thoughly discussed by Dr Hamill and Dr Royer of the Department of Civic Relief

The meeting will be held in the High school auditorium Tuesday evening Jan 28th, and should be attended by every man and woman who is interested in the welfare of the community

New Telephone Toll Rates

Effective January 21, 1919

(Announced December 13, 1918, by Postmaster General, Washington, D. C.)

New schedules of rates for telephone toll calls (to points outside the local service area) under which all toll calls throughout the United States are placed on a uniform basis, become effective 12.01 a. m., January 21, 1919.

Under these new schedules the "station to station" rate is the base rate upon which all rates for the various classes of service offered, are computed. This rate is determined by the air line distance between toll points and is computed, for the initial period, on the basis of 5c for each 6 miles up to 24 miles and 5c for each 8 miles beyond that distance. For toll calls where the calling party does not specify a particular person to be reached at the called telephone, "station to station" rates are charged.

For toll calls where the calling party does specify a particular person to be reached at the called telephone and the connection is established and conversation held with that person, "person to person" rates are charged. As this service requires a greater amount of operating effort, the rate for such calls is about one-fourth greater than the "station to station" rate. The minimum "person to person" rate is 20c.

Toll calls involving an appointment to talk at a specified time, or involving the use of messenger service to secure attendance of a designated person at a public telephone at a distant point may be made at rates usually about one-half greater than the "station to station" rate, plus the cost of messenger service. The minimum rate for such calls is 25c.

For all toll calls other than those made on the "station to station" basis, where connection is established but the conversation is not held because the calling or called party is not present or will not talk, a "report charge" is made, equivalent to about one-fourth of the "station to station" rate. The minimum "report charge" is 10c; maximum $2.00. No "report charge" is made if the call is completed before midnight of the day it is placed.

Night rates, applying only to calls made on a "station to station" basis, are quoted between 8.30 p. m. and 4.30 a. m. The rate between 8.30 p. m. and 12 midnight is about one-half the "station to station" day rate, and between 12 midnight and 4.30 a. m about one-fourth the "station to station" day rate. The minimum night rate is 25c.

"Station to Station" calls must be made as far as possible by giving the telephone number of the called telephone. When the number is not known and telephone directory information is not available the number should be obtained from "Information," or if the called telephone is at a distant point, the name and address of the called subscriber should be given to the Toll Operator, stating that it is a "station to station" call.

The "station to station" rates are substantially lower than the "person to person" rates. In order that patrons may effect the greatest economy in their charges for toll service, and also maximum speed of connections, they are urged to study their toll service requirements and to make the widest possible use of "station to station" calls.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

NIGHT DANCING.

"It was raining in the city and it was night," said Daddy. "The rain pattered down on the pavements and the people walked along hurriedly trying to get to their homes as soon as possible. Some of them went to the street cars which soon became crowded and others tried to walk along, as they held up their umbrellas to keep off the rain.

Very, Very Tremendously Old.

"'We're having a time, a glorious time,' said the raindrops.

"'Ah my fine army,' said the King of the Clouds.

"'Patter and drop and scamper all you wish, little raindrops, my fine little army of raindrops,' said the King of the Clouds. 'It does my old wet heart good to see you have such a fine time.'

"'Let us have some fun, too,' said the electric lights from the signs and along the streets.

"'What do you want to do?' asked the raindrops.

"'Can my army of raindrops help you?' asked the King of the Clouds.

"'Ah, yes,' said the electric lights.

"'Tell us how,' the raindrops said.

"'Just keep on raining,' the electric lights said.

"And the raindrops laughed merrily as they fell, on the pavements and danced down on top of every umbrella they saw.

"'We can do that,' they said. 'We are in the mood for raining. Yes, we feel like it, and the stars don't want to come out.'

"'They've gone on a visit to the Moon tonight. The Moon is having a birthday. I don't know how old he said he was,' one little raindrop added, 'but very, very, very, tremendously old!'

"'Yes, my army of raindrops feel like raining and I feel like giving them the chance' said the King of the Clouds. 'So they will do your bidding.'

"'That sounds very fine, indeed,' said the electric lights.

"'What do you want to do in order to have some fun?' asked the raindrops.

"'We want to dance,' the electric lights said.

"'Oh, we want to dance,' said one of the electric light signs. 'We ... and the time we ... is when there ... would like to ... our partners.'

"'Yes, little raindrops, keep on pattering and falling to the earth, and we will dance up and down, up and down, up and down with glee.'

"'It will look gay in the city tonight,' said one of the street lights, 'even though it is raining. We will dance and the city will seem so alive.'

"And so the raindrops fell to the pavements and the streets, and the lights danced in the rain. The signs which were advertising many wonderful things danced and the street lights danced, and the lights on motorcars danced, too.

"Oh, what a time they all had! How gay and bright and happy they were!

"'Even though it's a rainy night, we are making it jolly,' the raindrops said, 'with the help of the electric lights.'

"'It was a fine idea of the electric lights to want to dance in the rain,' said the King of the Clouds.

"'They appreciate us,' said the army of raindrops in chorus. And so the rain kept coming down and the dancing continued.

"Such a very good time was had by every dancing light and every raindrop that the King of the Clouds said, 'Let us always have a dance in the city when we come forth to have a rainy evening.'

"We Wanted to Dance," Said the Electric Lights.

"The raindrops stayed and the electric lights danced, and so ever since then in every city on a rainy night the lights have danced when the rain came down from the heavens. Sometimes the dancing is more exciting one time than another. But there is always dancing.'

"When I was once in a city after dark," said Nancy, "it seemed as if I saw the lights dancing—and it was a rainy night."

"And so was the case," said Daddy, "for the first time I was given by the raindrops and the lights happened a long, long time ..."

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

FARM STOCK

INCREASE SHORT-FED CATTLE

To Save Feed, Department of Agriculture Advises Against Too High Finishing of Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In view of the unfortunate experience last winter of some feeders of heavy cattle, the continued high price of grain and the uncertainty of a continuation of good prices which well-finished heavy carcasses now command, the United States department of agriculture believes that feeders should concentrate their efforts on the production of economically short-fed cattle. Of course, this statement does not refer to baby-beef production, which is a specialty within itself.

There is no question that for the last several years cattle feeders have been making beef too fat; that is, they have put more finish upon the animals than economy would justify. This idea was evidently in the minds of the advisory committee of agricultural and live stock producers appointed by the department of agriculture and the food administration when that committee recently made the following recommendation:

"We feel that cattle marketed at the present time in class 4 (long-fed or export and highly finished cattle), and known as 'exports,' owing to the high costs of labor and feed, are not an economical product, and their production should not be encouraged."

Not only has the advisory committee thus warned against the heavy feeding of cattle, but it is also understood that the government officials directing the buying policies of the government will not consider themselves responsible for the prices of very fat cattle.

Recent experiences by various state experiment stations and the United States department of agriculture have borne out the fact that good beef can be produced by using a relatively small amount of grain, or with nitrogenous concentrates in connection with silage and some other cheap roughage in the form of hay.

The principle that should be avoided in future feeding operations, according to the advice of the department of agriculture, is to reduce to a minimum the amount of high-priced feed and to make judicious use of cheap roughages. In other words, instead of feeding from 50 to 60 bushels of dry corn per steer in the long feeding period, as was the custom in the past, the quantity should be, and may be profitably, reduced to 15 to 20 bushels in a shorter feeding period, or the dry corn grain can be eliminated altogether, as the liberal use of good quality silage will furnish an excellent ration. The use of cottonseed meal, linseed meal or other protein-rich feed, even though high in price, is to be highly recommended, because the higher other feeds are, the more profitable becomes the use of a protein supplement. Expensive hay may be completely eliminated in the ration by the use of a cheaper dry roughage such as corn stover, coarse hay or straw.

The department believes that by avoiding too heavy feeding and too high finish, and by following the suggestions given above, feeders should be able to feed cattle at a profit in spite of the high prices of feed and labor. The recent statement of the United States food administrator, and the available reports from foreign countries, indicate that there may be a great increase in the demand for beef, which is encouraging to the cattle feeders of this country, and especially those who suffered losses during the past feeding season.

Clean Wallow Hole Important.

A clean wallow hole is very important. Hogs may use the muddy wallow if no other is available, but if clean water is provided in a concrete wallow they will prefer it to the mudhole.

Protection From Flies.

Horses, mules and cows should be protected from flies as much as possible. Some of the prepared sprays on the market greatly help in doing this.

H. L. Connelly is able to be about after a four day tussle with a severe cold.

News of OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

It is reported that Al Welker is making arrangements to conduct a cigar stand and an eating restaurant in part of the room occupied by Fred McKenzie as a pool room.

A number of boys have been laid off from work at the Summit sole leather tannery. It is uncertain when the branch they were working in will be resumed. Boys in the finishing tannery were also laid off until their line increases in output.

There is some strange animal raising havoc among the fowls and other domestic animals near Naulton. Saturday night it raided chicken coops, scattering fowls in every direction, but killing none of them. It struck a small pig on its travels and bit the side of the face of the porker.

There is considerable sickness in town just now, but those who are ill are not dangerously so, with the exception, perhaps, of two or three persons who are afflicted with pneumonia.

The Curwensville scribe to The Progress is under obligations to J. R. Bixler, of The Herald, for a handsome almanac. The book also contains many valuable hints to farmers and householders in general. The workmanship is neat and mechanical and indicates that the work came from a shop that turns out first class work.

A few days ago an item appeared in this letter about the dogs annoying people on Irvin hill so that they could not sleep. No complaint comes that there is a horse over there, for the lack of a little exercise, keeps up such a racket at night by his jumping and tearing around that none of the people living near by can either rest or sleep at night.

Rev. Dr. T. S. Wilcox, of Williamsport, preached in the M. E. church yesterday, morning and evening to a large and appreciative audience.

A take walk was held in St. Timothy's Catholic church Saturday night. It was well patronized and turned out to be a profitable venture.

It has been called to our attention that an item appeared a week ago in Curwensville letter announcing that the mines near Luthersburg owned by the Bickford Fire company were still on fire. We wish to correct that statement so far as the ownership is concerned. The mines are owned and operated by Curwensville capital and not by the Bickford people. We stand corrected.

Charles Lesher, of Philipsburg, visited Curwensville relatives and friends Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. John Myers and brothers and sisters have received notice of the death of a nephew who was serving in the United States Marine corps.

The display of fox skins in the window of John Kelly's pool room attracted considerable attention the latter part of the week. The hides are of fine texture and color and are valuable.

Roy Brown, son of H. S. Brown, was taken down with an acute attack of influenza at his home on South Side on Friday. The present soft weather does not seem to have much affect in the spreading of the disease, as there has been quite a few cases reported within the past few days.

Doc. Smith received a communication from his son, Samuel Smith, who has been in the army for the past three years, that he has been removed from Camp Merritt to Camp Dix and that he expects to be released from further service soon and will come home to stay.

Mrs. Frank Weaver and daughter Helen, residing on North street, were taken ill on Friday night. A physician was summoned and at this writing report the afflicted ones greatly improved.

Mrs. Arthur Temple, of Lumber City, spent the week visiting with relatives in town.

Joe Jenkins employed in one of the B. R. R. offices in Pittsburgh, and just able to be about after a severe attack of the influenza, came home Saturday afternoon where he will spend several weeks with his parents.

Saturday being such a warm sunshiny day all the farmers residing west of Curwensville managed to get to town in some kind of a rig or other. It was the first trip for some of them for three months and the old town certainly looked good to their eyes.

Judging from the number of people that thronged our stores Saturday night Curwensville merchants had no complaint to make on amount of goods disposed of to customers.

Ex-Burgess Caldwell and Jon Vannie, about the only two really first-class carpenters left in Curwensville on fine construction house work at the present time, have already contracted for the construction of a half dozen modern and up-to-date dwelling houses in and near Curwensville, work to commence just as soon as weather in the spring will allow the laying of the stone foundations. It is estimated that nearly one hundred houses of one kind and another will be erected in this town during the summer months.

Frank Robison and son are engaged in wielding paint brushes up at the brick yard offices thereby making the frescoe work look brighter and the works more pleasant for the office force in which to do their work. The superintendent of that plant is going in making things pleasant and easy in which to get through with the great amount of work to be done in those offices, with supervision over three or four plants operated by this push-ahead company now operated in this vicinity. All work being done is of the first class variety.

A son of James Harvey died Wednesday at his home near Glen Richey of influenza combined with pneumonia, after an illness of several weeks. He leaves a wife and several small children. His funeral was held on Thursday afternoon. Interment in Old Hill cemetery. He was a member of the Red Men's lodge of this place. A number of members from the local lodge attended the funeral and paid a last sad tribute to their brother and comrade.

All persons who loaned beds, bedding, etc., to the Emergency hospital during the past epidemic, and wish to have the articles returned, must call Wednesday, Jan. 22, between 2 and 4 p. m. at the Borough building to identify their goods. After that time they are to be packed and stored for future use by the Red Cross.

The following list contains articles now on hand, including goods purchased by the Red Cross to the amount of $370.50.

9 night caps
4 red cross night shirts
4 baby night gowns
22 quilts
10½ dozen sheets
99 pillow slips
3 dolls
1 ice cap
1 wall thermometer
9 wash rags
2 bed pans
18 bath towels
105 wash towels
5½ doz. night shirt.
51 pillows
1 electric heater
4 combs
1 hand bell
19 window screens
56 blankets
6 water bottles
1 suit underclothes
10 counter panes
2 bath robes
1 piece muslin, 3 by 9 yards.
1 piece muslin 3 by 3 yards.
Odd piece muslin
12 mattresses
4 beds.

In the last issue of The "Herald" a Red Cross article notified the ladies that the sewing would be resumed, Wednesday, January 15, after our long enforced illness because of the quarantine. At the present time we are beginning work on the refugee garments. There was a much smaller turnout than should be exp cted and we would a k the ladies to come, for now is the time the garments are needed.

NOW SENIOR 1ST. LIEUT. LYTLE

Upon arrival in port at the end of his trip to and on the upper Mediterranean Ensign Junior Grade James H. Lytle was informed that he had been promoted to the rank of Senior Lieutenant.

The promotion bears the date of September 20th last, as the Armistice was in force when it was announced, the good news was kept as a sort of "welcome home." While it is not known at this time just what Lieut. Lytle's plans may be, he has been advised by other officers in the service to continue in the service while the opportunity offers, as the chances for rapid promotion will be slim after the war is over.

MAKE SOFT CHEESE AT HOME

Only Simple Equipment Needed to Manufacture Neufchatel and Cream in Small Quantities.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Neufchatel and cream cheese, two of the group known as soft cheese now made almost exclusively in factories with extensive equipment, can be made at home. The method is simple and does not require elaborate equipment. It offers an excellent opportunity for the disposal of surplus milk on the farm and enables farm housewives to make a fresh, wholesome and attractive food at home.

Neufchatel cheese should be made from whole milk that tests about 4 per cent, and cream cheese from milk testing 6 per cent butterfat. Both are made in this way: To a quantity of 30 pounds, or 3½ gallons of milk, add a pint of good starter or clean-flavored sour milk and stir well. Warm the milk to between 80 to 85 degrees F. Then add about eight drops of rennet which has previously been dissolved in a cupful of cold water. Stir in thoroughly and set the milk aside to curdle. Powdered pepsin (one-half the size of a pea) or one-third of a junket tablet may be used in place of the rennet. The cheese may be made without a starter, in which case the milk should be ripened (allowed to stand at 70 degrees F.) for six or seven hours before adding the rennet.

After 16 to 18 hours, the time usually necessary for proper curdling, pour the milk into a drain cloth and allow to drain from two to four hours or until practically no whey drips from the cloth. Then place the bag of curd between two clean boards, put a 5-pound weight upon it and let it stand for six or eight hours. Remove the curd from the cloth to a pail. Sprinkle two level teaspoonfuls of fine salt over it, and thoroughly mix with a potato masher until it has a smooth buttery consistency. Running the cheese through a food chopper or working it with a butter worker produces the same result.

The cheese should then be placed in a crock or enamel dish until ready for use and kept at a temperature of 50 degrees F. or below. If it is to be sold, it should be molded into small packages and wrapped in tinfoil, or packed in glass jars.

In nutritive value these cheeses compare favorably with other simple foods, especially meat. They are rich in protein and fat and are easily digested. Perhaps the most desirable ways to serve these are in the forms of salads, sandwiches and in combination with other foods such as olives, sweet peppers, pimentos, pickles, different kinds of nuts, various vegetables and nearly all fruits.

FULL VALUE FROM ENSILAGE

Cutting Before Soft Dough Stage is Reached Is Not Good Practice.

(Prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

Cutting corn for the silo before it is ready is too general a practice. The full feeding value of the crop cannot be obtained until the soft dough stage is reached. The lower leaves will then be dead, some of the husks will have turned brown, and the ears will be hard, but the stalks and upper leaves of the plants will still be green and succulent. Cutting before this time is like marketing cattle or hogs before they are finished.

How Italy's Art was Saved

Cathedral of SS. John and Paul

by Prof. Ettore Cadorin

CATHEDRAL OF SS. JOHN AND PAUL, VENICE, ONE OF THE MOST FAMOUS OF THE EDIFICES OF VENICE, HOUSING MANY ART OBJECTS OF GREAT BEAUTY AND HISTORICAL VALUE (X) SHOWS WHERE AN AUSTRIAN BOMB HIT IT ON SEPT. 15, 1916

The Cathedral of SS. John and Paul in Venice is considered the Pantheon of the old Republic. It is a large, magnificent building in the Italian Gothic style, erected in the thirteenth century by the same architect who built the Cathedral of the Frari. Like Westminster Abbey, the interior of the church contains the tombs of many great men of the country. Here lie some of the greatest Doges, captains and admirals of the glorious armies and fleets of the Republic of Venice. The facade of the Cathedral has never been completely finished, but the interior presents the most imposing lines and richness of decoration.

One of the chapels, added late at the time of the maturity of the Venetian art, was specially important, having been erected in memory of the great naval battle of Lepanto, which saved Europe from invasion and the tyranny of the Turks in the sixteenth century, just as in our time the battle of the Marne saved the world from the Huns. The chapel dedicated to the Virgin of the Rosary and decorated with precious bas-reliefs in marble by Vittoria as well as fine wood carving and paintings was burnt and completely destroyed sixty years ago. My greatest misfortune was also destroyed in the same fire one of the most celebrated canvases by Titian, "The Martyrdom of St. Peter," which was just deposited in that chapel while its own frame in the church was being restored.

Great care was taken in protecting the treasures of the cathedral at the beginning of the war. All monuments were covered with scaffolds and masonry and the paintings and the precious windows of the main altar were taken away—only one canvas could not be removed, the canvas covering the ceiling of the Chapel of St. Domenico, painted by Piazzetta. This canvas was nailed to the ceiling by the painter in a way to make it impossible to be removed. On the 13th of September, 1916, an Austrian bomb hit the cathedral at the place marked by a cross in our picture, penetrated the wall and burst on the pavement, the splinters tearing to pieces that very canvas and hitting two of those monuments, but only damaging the scaffolding of sacks, which protected perfectly the marbles. I will speak of these monuments in my next article.

HUSBAND AND WIFE ARE EQUALLY AIDED

Mrs. S. W. Seltzer, 4529 N. 16th St., Phila., whose husband is with the Link Belt Co., tells how she and Mr. Seltzer were aided through Tanlac. "I suffered from rheumatism and my husband had stomach trouble. I had so much difficulty with my knees being stiff and sore that I could only go upstairs with difficulty. I heard about Tanlac and after I used it I was able to go up and down stairs without pain or effort. My husband's stomach trouble is greatly relieved. We both speak highly of Tanlac."

The genuine Tanlac, which bears the name J. J. Gore Co., on outside carton, is now sold here by Stewart Drug Co., Woodward & McPherson, and other leading druggists. Tanlac the celebrated vegetable tonic, stomachic and health builder, is also sold in neighboring cities and towns. Ask for it.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSES GROWING

Receipts from automobile licenses for 1919 at the automobile registration division of the State Highway department amount to more than half a million dollars more than the revenue for 1918 licenses did at this time last year. Applications for licenses fill the mail and the state treasury is receiving from $25,000 to $35,000 a day from the licenses.

The aggregate of the revenue received thus far for 1919 licenses is $2,146,000 with every indication that the $3,000,000 mark will be passed before the end of the month.

There have been 178,000 pneumatic tired automobiles licensed, this being in excess of the number licensed to be middle of January last year and about 30,000 solid tired machines. There is also an increase in the number of motorcycles licensed.

OBITUARY

FORMER COUNTY COMMISSIONER DEAD

J. S. Richards former County Commissioner of Clearfield county, passed away at the home of his sister in Osceola Sunday night last. Mr. Richards had been suffering from a slight attack of influenza at his home in Curwenvsille and went to Altoona Friday last to attend the funeral of a sister. On his way home Saturday he developed pneumonia and his sister who accompanied him, had him removed from the train at Osceola and taken to her home for medical treatment. He grew rapidly worse until the end came as above stated.

Si Richards was about 72 years of age and was one of the best known lumberman in Clearfield county. He is survived by three sons and one daughter.

ROBERT BISHOP POHE

On Sabbath morning at nine o'clock Robert Bishop Pohe, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Pohe, passed away. For the past week the little child was a great sufferer, and all that human hands could do was done to relieve him. The Great Master had called him, and nothing could hold him here. The deep sympathy of all is extended to the parents in this their great loss. Mr. Pohe left with the body last night for Bloomsburg, accompanied by his sister, Miss Minnie Pohe.

YOUNG MOTHER DIES

Mrs. Fred Bartley, who had been a sufferer from influenza for some time passed away at her home in Reedsville last evening.

Mrs. Jessie Flegal Bartley was born in Clearfield twenty-one years ago. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Flegal, of Dorey street, and was a sincere Christian young woman, a loving wife and devoted mother. Her untimely death is a particularly hard blow to her loved ones and made doubly sad by the fact that her infant child died early Sunday morning.

She was married to Fred Bartley in February, 1917. She is survived by her husband and one child. Her parents and several brothers and sisters survive her. The husband is lying critically ill from influenza.

The first attempt to manufacture iron in America was made in Virginia three hundred years ago this year.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT CHURCHES

The spring-like day in mid January and the passing of the epidemic accounted in part for the increased attendance at the church services yesterday. Trinity Methodist church had the largest number of people out since September. The Sunday school lacked thirty scholars of reaching the four hundred mark. The Epworth League had a record meeting in point of attendance and interest, Walter B. Kennard being the leader. The pastor's sermon on the "Power of the Holy Spirit" gripped the attention of the hearers. The evening congregation entered enthusiastically into the singing of the hymns in celebration of the temperance victory and gave close attention to the splendid address of District Attorney Arnold who outlined some of the steps by which the ratification of the prohibition amendment has been accomplished. The speaker also stated clearly the things that the citizens of this country must do to insure the carrying into effect the laws which the governmen makes. It was an eloquent appeal to the people to do their part that the great victory won in the commonwealths of our union shall bring the promised relief from the blight of the liquor traffic in every hamlet, town and city throughout the land. The pastor followed with an earnest exhortation to the unsaved to get right with God.

The evangelistic meetings will be continued this week.

EBERT WILL INSIST ON GETTING WILSON PEACE

WILL NOT TAKE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF SIGNING FINAL PACT IF ENEMY NATIONS IMPOSE OTHER PUNISHMENTS

WANTS FOOD TO KILL REVOLUTION

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright 1919 by the United Press)

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—Chancellor Ebert told the United Press today that Germany will do everything to comply with the peace conditions based on President Wilson's fourteen points but that if the Allies make further demands he will not take the responsibility of signing the peace terms. He said Germany needs peace immediately so as to get food and material that her people can go to work. He declared that the Spartacans had lost their revolution and that no serious outbreaks will occur if the people are fed.

"We must be ready for anything. We must have peace," declared Ebert. "We stand on President Wilson's fourteen points on which basis we signed the armistice. We will do everything to comply with the conditions but it is possible our enemy will make further demands. Germany cannot accept them. I could not take the responsibility for signing the peace terms in that case. I could not take the consequences so I would resign."

Asked about the responsibility for the war, Ebert said, "That is a question I cannot answer off hand. I feel the blame was not Germany's alone." Discussing the Spartacan uprising, he said, "We want peace immediately so we can have food and material that will enable the people to go to work."

Ebert said: "The charge that the government encouraged the disorder so as to escape its debts is absolutely false. The reason the government did nothing against the Bolsheviki at the beginning of the revolution was that the army flocked homeward after the armistice was signed, disorganized and useless. Now that the government forces have been reorganized we intend to use every means to suppress Bolshevikism which is an enemy to society. There are still some Bolsheviki leaders in some centers outside of Berlin. Examination of captured Spartacans showed them to be under-nourished and subnormal and the people must be fed if we do not want a revolution. If they are not fed we must be ready for anything."

RUSSIAN SITUATION DISCUSSED BY PEACE DELEGATES AT QUAY D' ORSAY

(By United Press)

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The Russian situation problem was taken up by representatives of the associated powers at a meeting at the Quay d'Orsay this afternoon. "The President of the United States and the prime ministers of the various ministries of the Allied powers assisted by Baron Makino, the Japanese ambassador in Paris, met at the Quay d'Orsay this morning between 10:30 and 12 o'clock," an official announcement said.

M. Moulens, French ambassador to Russia, who returned a few days ago from Archangel, addressed the meeting and gave particulars of the Russian situation. The next meeting will take place on Thursday at 10:30 in the morning.

President Wilson and Senator Berguis, French authority on the League of Nations conferred this afternoon. They exchanged views on the league for the first time. A special report on the result of this meeting was to be taken before the conference. M. Savinoff, former Russian minister, held numerous conferences with the associated representatives today.

These officers and district board members will be in charge of affairs when the annual meeting is held this spring, at which time the scale agreemetn expires. It is expected that this annual spring meeting will be one of the most important that has been held in several years, and it is certain that the new scale will come in for a large amount of attention, both on the part of the operators and the miners.

LETTER FROM COUNCHLMAN ALFRED GRAHAM

St Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 16, 1918

Dear Friend Connelly:

This short letter finds us all well and enjoying ourselves very much in the sunny south. St. Petersburg is some city. With swell city buildings fine large banks, stores and hotels, lots of them and lots of cafeterias.

We can live cheaper here than you can in Clearfield. We can buy grape smaller sizes two for 5c, oranges 20 smaller sizes two for 5c, oranges 20 cents per dozen at retail, and if one goes out into the country before the dealers get them you can buy all you can carry for 10 cents per dozen. They lay on the ground under the trees like apples at home in the fall. In the grapefruit groves the limbs of the trees touch the ground on account of their loads of luscious fruit.

We are sitting out in the park without overcoats, playing checkers or pitching quoits in the balmy sunshine. I see by The Progress you had a little zero weather up there.

This is a strong Woodrow Wilosn city. Regards to all our local friends.

Yours respectfully
ALFRED GRAHAM

WILL ATTEND INAUGURATION

The following Clearfield Republicans will attend the inauguration of Governor Sproul at Harrisburg tomorrow: Hon. Joseph E. Phillips, John M. Bain, D. W. Anderson, A. T. Kearney, Wade I. Stewart, Editor G. A. Stewart, of The Progress, Prothonotary John H. Moore, Register and Recorder E. B. Chase and County Commissioner H. H. Spencer.

100 FIREMEN ATTEND MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY EVENING

More than one hundred members of the Clearfield Fire Department attended services at the West Side Methodist Episcopal church last evening when Rev. C. C. Snavely preached the annual memorial sermon to the department.

In addition to the regular church services the choir had arranged an espeically pleasing musical program and an impressive and highly interesting service was the result.

Rev. Snavely's sermon was a masterpiece, in which he paid his respects to Benjamin Franklin, whose birthday was remembered when the date for the firemen's annual memorial was selected. He paid briefly eloquent tribute to the memories of the five members of the department who departed this life during 1918 and closed with a moving theological discussion in which he took his text from II Corinthians Last Chapter and 13th verse. He interpreted the eloquent words of Paul in a highly convincing manner and pointed the way to the life worth while in plain and unmistakable terms.

The church was filled to overflowing and the firemen were greatly pleased over the selection of the church and preacher for their memorial this year and the success of their service.

GOING BACK

Thomas G. McCausland, registrar of vital statistics for Philipsburg borough and Rush township, has completed his compilation of the mortuary record for the year 1918 and forwarded his report to the State Department of Health. Owing primarily to the influenza epidemic the death rate during the past year is exceptionally high. In the borough of Philipsburg there were 89 deaths during the year and 83 births. Rush township's deaths numbered 136, with 126 births.

Sergeant C. H. Kelly and wife (nee Ethel White) are visiting the former's parents Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Kelly of Pittsburgh.

Squire James Ruffner and Charley Gill were down from Madera on business at the court house today.

WOMEN DOMINATE [illegible] ELECTION HELD TODAY

INDEPENDENT SOCIALISTS WIN IN BERLIN BUT THE EBERT FORCES CARRY EVERYWHERE EXCEPT RHINELAND

WOMEN VOTE LARGER THAN MALE

By FRANK J. TAYOLR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—The national election in Germany today was dominated by women who voted and run for office for the first time in the hsitory of the country. In practically every district the women were in a great majority over the men. The Majority Socialists expect to have their way in most parts of the country. The Independent Socialists polled a big vote in Berlin, while the Catholic Conservative expected to win in the Rhineland but [illegible] where the Ebert-Schiedeman followers expected to win. More than ninety per cent. of the qualified voters in Berlin took advantage of the equal franchise.

In view of the fact that dispatches from Copenhagen reported serious fighting in Berlin late yesterday and last night resulting in the Spartacans destroying ballot boxes, it is evident that Taylor's dispatch was filed before the disorder became general and that his dispatch was heavily censored.

BULGARIAN CABINET RESIGNS

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Bulgarian cabinet has resigned, according to a Sofia dispatch today.

ONLY ONE MORE BOND CAMPAIGN

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—There will be but one more Liberty Loan campaign. Of this the Treasury Department was certain.

DOUBLY AFFLICTED

With profound regret and sincere sorrow Clearfield learned of the death of Mrs. Fred Bartley (nee Jessie Flegal) this morning at her home on Linden street at 7:15 o'clock. Mrs. Bartley was sick out one week with influenza, complications setting in. She leaves a sorrowing husband who is also seriously ill with pneumonia, and one daughter Jane.

Mrs. Bartley was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flegal who survive, also several brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Bartley was a kind and loving wife and mother and will be sadly missed by her loved ones. Mr. and Mrs. Flegal have the sympathy of the community as another daughter, Mrs. Temple, is also suffering with the dreaded disease and has been a patient at the Clearfield hospital for several months.

Funeral announcement later.

AN APOLOGY

To the good folks who left their homes on Saturday night and traveled to the High School expecting to hear Mina Spaulding in the first number of the Woman's Club lecture course The Progress Ad-Man most humbly asks your pardon.

Miss Spaulding will appear tonight, instead of Saturday night as advertised in The Progress.

CITY HALL AT CORRY BURNS

Corry, Pa., Jan. 20—Four firemen were suffocated, one of them dying, when fire destroyed the City Hall with a loss of $75,000 today. Wm. Simson, Bob Clark, Cecil Slagle and Eddie Welsh were asleep in the store room in the City Hall. All were revived but Simson.

GOOD ROADS CLUB WILL PROCURE A FINE SPEAKER

Those in charge of the movement looking to the formation of the Clearfield County Good Roads Association have arranged to send invitations to the different interests, individuals, organizations and municipal bodies throughout the county asking that delegates be sent to the organization meeting to be held sometime during next week. It was thought that the meeting should be held Friday or Saturday of this week but on account of shortness of time to properly advertise and because of a press of other business it was decided to call the meeting for next week.

An effort will be made to secure a competent speaker to address the meeting and with that end in view a committee consisting of John M. Bain, D. W. Anderson and Farm Agent A. T. Kearney will visit Harrisburg on Tuesday and endeavor to secure a suitable person.

Invitations will be issued just as soon as the speaker has been secured, and it is possible to tell what day next week will suit for the meeting.

This is a vitally important project for all of Clearfield county and every community should be represented in this coming organization. It aims to enlist the aid of every citizen in securing roads that will benefit every section. Get in line and be a booster of the movement.

BUTTER IS EIGHTY CENTS PER POUND

Licenses for the sale of oleomargerine during 1919 issued at the state diary and food bureau aggregate within a thousand of the total number issued during 1918. The total licenses for last year was 5,350, which broke all records. The total issued thus far for 1919 is almost 4,600. Oleomargarine licenses netted $461,390.01 in 1918.

GIDEON AND CONSCRIPTION

Robert W. Smith, Secretary of the Selective Service Board for District No. 1 of Blair county, is somewhat of a student of the Scriptures and when addressing a draft contingent ready to leave Altoona for army service gave the boys a little history of the operation of the first selective service on record. Secretary Smith's research disclosed the fact that "cold feet" was an ancient ailment and that the average Pennsylvanian is a much better man, physically speaking, than were the old timers whom Gideon was called upon to summon to the battle for righteousness. The Secretary's speech in part follows:

"Let us recall the olden story of the first drafted men on earth. Gideon was the commander of the Israelites. He had an army of 32,000 men at his back. He sought to draft out of that army only the strongest and best warriors to fight the enemy. He thereupon constituted himself the first selective service board in the history of the world. His first draft order was that all his soldiers, who had dependents, or were slackers, or who were afraid and wanted to go home, might go. Thereupon, 22,000 Israelites deserted the colors and went home, leaving 10,000 comrades behind to fight the battle. The commander then proceeded to separate the physically disqualified from the army. So this novel test of efficiency was applied. The 10,000 soldiers were marched down to a stream and commanded to drink. Ninety-seven hundred soldiers got down on all fours to drink, thereby proving that they were physically unfit, lacking both the agility and virility to wage successful combat against the foe. But the three hundred remaining soldiers were so eager for the coming fray, so alert against any possible surprise attack of the enemy, that they disdained to stoop and kneel. They stood erect. Each one scooped up the water in the palms of his hands, and drank. These brisk, energetic men, swift of limb and steady of purpose, were the soldiers chosen in the selective service of the long, long ago. Better three hundred picked men, than 32,000 doubtful fighters for Gideon's army. Holy Writ tells us, that these drafted men were entrusted with the sword of the Lord and of Gideon, and achieved a glorious victory. The American nation enters the world war, for the sake of justice, righteousness and humanity. She is calling her sons to rally around her banner, as modern Gideons, that freedom and equality and liberty, may not perish from the earth."

WHEN WE NEED MONEY

When do we really need money so badly that it is necessary for us to sell our Liberty Bonds? This is a question that must be decided by a man himself and two factors must be considered; the necessities of the situation and his responsibility to his country. There are without a doubt many times when a man in justice to himself and in order to meet conditions may sell his bonds. It is unfortunate that those so situated are forced to accept low prices for their bonds because so many are thoughtlessly selling their bonds for no other purpose than to obtain money to expend for luxuries and unnecessary articles.

Primarily the Liberty Bond was but is not intended as a medium of exchange. It was and is a savings account. The war made every Liberty Bond holder just the amount of his bonds richer than he was before the war. It was not intended that every man should immediately step up to the counter and ask for his money back as soon as the figthing ceased. It is indeed a wise and fortunate man who can hold his bonds until maturity and reap the benefit of the coupon interest. The buying of a bond was a patriotic act. When we bought them we loaned our government that amount of money for twenty or thirty years or whatever term of years the bond calls for. To sell that bond to buy an auto or a piano or for any other reason except to pay living expenses in case of illness or for some other equally pressing reason is not being fair to our government. It may be likened to renting a man a home for a year and then putting him out at the end of two months.

We hear many stories of bonds being sold for five to fifteen dollars less than was paid for them. All of these transactions take place on the street or in business places where there are "bond pirates" ready to take advantage of the incredulous bond holder. This morning we heard of a bond being sold for $35. The transaction took place in a bar room. The seller first listened to a lengthy discourse on the low price of the bonds and was thereby prepared for the low offer. The seller, under these circumstances, would not have been able to sell his gold watch for a better price.

When we really need money and must have it we should consult our banker. In many instances we can borrow the money and put the bond up for security. In this manner we hold our bond for its full maturity value, we fulfill our obligation to our country and meanwhile enjoy the interest which the bond carries. There are instances of where the "bond pirates" have bought bonds for as low as $25 and immediately mailed them to a bond house where he sold them for $45.

Hold your bonds. Don't listen to the fellow who trys to tell you they are not worth what you paid for them. The fellows who are selling their bonds are responsible for the low prices they now bring.

Who Is On the Lord's Side?

By REV. J. H. RALSTON, D. D.
Secretary of Correspondence Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Whoso is on Jehovah's side let him come unto me.—Ex. V.

It is related that at a certain point in Lincoln's presidential experience, when the affairs of the Union were in a precarious condition, a friend remarked to him that it was a good thing to have the Lord on our side. Mr. Lincoln very seriously replied that he was more concerned about whether he were on the Lord's side. There are indications that the German kaiser is more concerned on having the Lord on his side than about being on the Lord's side.

The natural tendency of man is to seek his own or the things of humanity, rather than the things of the Lord, and man is simply asking what some particular course will bring to him, or what it will bring to his time. The chief end of man in these days is not to glorify God. In this, grievous wrong is done. When a course of action is before one, the chief question should not be, "How will it affect me?" nor, indeed, "How will it affect my neighbor?" but "How will it affect God?"

The great need of the day is a new sensing of God—God at the beginning, God in the middle, God at the ending. The right thing for man is to ask where God is, and to go where he is. If man would do that many of his great theological questions would be settled. God manifests himself through his Word, and if men would go to the Word of God with these questions they would soon be substantially correct on all of them.

The text suggests the question, "Who is on the Lord's side?" or rather, "What man or woman has a right to say that he is on the Lord's side?"

In the particular case before us, the people had made a golden calf and were worshiping it. To do that was to break the first two commandments of the Decalogue, and it became open idolatry. It is inevitable that a man worship. If he does not worship God he will worship some thing, or some one else. Nor can a man be on the Lord's side if he does those things that the Lord hates.

If a man would know his duty to the Lord he should seek to know what the Lord thinks of certain things, and here again he must take the Lord's judgment through his Word, for he cannot know what the Lord thinks unless he knows his Word. As to particular actions, a man may be left to his own judgment, but as to the great principles that lie at the root of things, the Lord makes clear declaration in his Word. Does the Lord love a liar, brutality, deception? The remnant of God's image in man says at once, "No! No!" Does the Lord favor truth, liberty, kindness? That same remnant of God's image says, "Yes! Yes!" And consequently, the duty is clear, and he should stand for these things. We might sum up everything by saying, "Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

The scene connected with our text was probably this: There was a golden calf and people were dancing about it. Moses stood aloof and made the cry, "Whoso is on the Lord's side, let him come to me." According to the constitution and nature of man we make appeals to him as to his conscience, to his sense of duty or privilege, and he must make choice.

What is it to be on the Lord's side? It is a natural inheritance from our sinning first parents that we will either be indifferent to God's commands or we will positively refuse to obey them. Fundamentally, the issue is the same. In the case before us, the worshiper of the golden calf either continued his dancing and worship, or just endeavored to be neutral. A man must "come across;" he must take a positive stand. The position of a neutral is the position of the enemy of God. There are no neutrals in our country now as to Germany. Politically we were neutral until the president said that a state of war existed, but now the neutral is a pro-German. We must be out and out for the United States of America. A man's religious obligations could be illustrated by taking the two sides of an imaginary line, and to an imaginary line there can be only two sides. It is one thing or it is the other. We must be positively, clearly, professionally on God's side, or we are against him. In the day in which we are living the ideals and motives are to be more sharply defined than in former days.

An eloquent man said very recently that heretofore men were living to make money, and now they are dying to preserve righteousness, a tremendous reversal of form. Precisely so of a man's actions: if their character is to be determined by whether they are right in the sight of God rather than whether they have been personally or socially beneficial, man will arrive at the realization of the purpose of God and of the realization of his own greatest happiness.

WHAT IS CHILD WELFARE WORK

Of all the phases of work the Department of Civic Relief is taking up, none perhaps strikes us as being quite so important as Child Welfare

The movement is really an effort to awaken each community to a realization of its duty in safeguarding the health of its children

There are always, in every community, children who lack care thru lack of knowledge or time of the parents, or thru sheer indifference Also at present, there are hundreds of children who have been left orphans or half orphans, with no one willing to take the responsibility of caring for them

It is just such cases that the Child Welfare work aims to help

At the opening meeting of the Northwestern District, State Federation of Pennsylvania Women the subject will be thoughly discussed by Dr Hamill and Dr Royer of the Department of Civic Relief

The meeting will be held in the High school auditorium Tuesday evening Jan 28th, and should be attended by every man and woman who is interested in the welfare of the community

New Telephone Toll Rates

Effective January 21, 1919

(Announced December 13, 1918, by Postmaster General, Washington, D. C.)

New schedules of rates for telephone toll calls (to points outside the local service area) under which all toll calls throughout the United States are placed on a uniform basis, become effective 12.01 a. m., January 21, 1919.

Under these new schedules the "station to station" rate is the base rate upon which all rates for the various classes of service offered, are computed. This rate is determined by the air line distance between toll points and is computed, for the initial period, on the basis of 5c for each 6 miles up to 24 miles and 5c for each 8 miles beyond that distance. For toll calls where the calling party does not specify a particular person to be reached at the called telephone, "station to station" rates are charged.

For toll calls where the calling party does specify a particular person to be reached at the called telephone and the connection is established and conversation held with that person, "person to person" rates are charged. As this service requires a greater amount of operating effort, the rate for such calls is about one-fourth greater than the "station to station" rate. The minimum "person to person" rate is 20c.

Toll calls involving an appointment to talk at a specified time, or involving the use of messenger service to secure attendance of a designated person at a public telephone at a distant point may be made at rates usually about one-half greater than the "station to station" rate, plus the cost of messenger service. The minimum rate for such calls is 25c.

For all toll calls other than those made on the "station to station" basis, where connection is established but the conversation is not held because the calling or called party is not present or will not talk, a "report charge" is made, equivalent to about one-fourth of the "station to station" rate. The minimum "report charge" is 10c; maximum $2.00. No "report charge" is made if the call is completed before midnight of the day it is placed.

Night rates, applying only to calls made on a "station to station" basis, are quoted between 8.30 p. m. and 4.30 a. m. The rate between 8.30 p. m. and 12 midnight is about one-half the "station to station" day rate, and between 12 midnight and 4.30 a. m about one-fourth the "station to station" day rate. The minimum night rate is 25c.

"Station to Station" calls must be made as far as possible by giving the telephone number of the called telephone. When the number is not known and telephone directory information is not available the number should be obtained from "Information," or if the called telephone is at a distant point, the name and address of the called subscriber should be given to the Toll Operator, stating that it is a "station to station" call.

The "station to station" rates are substantially lower than the "person to person" rates. In order that patrons may effect the greatest economy in their charges for toll service, and also maximum speed of connections, they are urged to study their toll service requirements and to make the widest possible use of "station to station" calls.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

NIGHT DANCING.

"It was raining in the city and it was night," said Daddy. "The rain pattered down on the pavements and the people walked along hurriedly trying to get to their homes as soon as possible. Some of them went to the street cars which soon became crowded and others tried to walk along, as they held up their umbrellas to keep off the rain.

Very, Very Tremendously Old.

"'We're having a time, a glorious time,' said the raindrops.

"'Ah my fine army,' said the King of the Clouds.

"'Patter and drop and scamper all you wish, little raindrops, my fine little army of raindrops,' said the King of the Clouds. 'It does my old wet heart good to see you have such a fine time.'

"'Let us have some fun, too,' said the electric lights from the signs and along the streets.

"'What do you want to do?' asked the raindrops.

"'Can my army of raindrops help you?' asked the King of the Clouds.

"'Ah, yes,' said the electric lights.

"'Tell us how,' the raindrops said.

"'Just keep on raining,' the electric lights said.

"And the raindrops laughed merrily as they fell on the pavements and danced down on top of every umbrella they saw.

"'We can do that,' they said. 'We are in the mood for raining. Yes, we feel like it, and the stars don't want to come out.'

"'They've gone on a visit to the Moon tonight. The Moon is having a birthday. I don't know how old he said he was,' one little raindrop added, 'but very, very, very, tremendously old!'

"'Yes, my army of raindrops feel like raining and I feel like giving them the chance,' said the King of the Clouds. 'So they will do your bidding.'

"'That sounds very fine, indeed,' said the electric lights.

"'What do you want to do in order to have some fun?' asked the raindrops.

"'We want to dance,' the electric lights said.

"'Oh, we [illegible] to dance,' said one of the electric light signs. '[illegible] and the time we feel like dancing is when there is [illegible] we would like to have the raindrops for our partners.'

"'Yes, little raindrops, keep on pattering and falling to the earth, and we will dance up and down, up and down, up and down with glee.'

"'It will look gay in the city tonight,' said one of the street lights, 'even though it is raining. We will dance and the city will seem so alive!'

"And so the raindrops fell to the pavements and the streets, and the lights danced in the rain. The signs which were advertising many wonderful things danced and the street lights danced, and the lights on motorcars danced, too.

"Oh, what a time they all had! How gay and bright and happy they were!

"'Even though it's a rainy night, we are making it jolly,' the raindrops said, 'with the help of the electric lights.'

"It was a fine idea of the electric lights to want to dance in the rain,' said the King of the Clouds.

"'They appreciate us,' said the army of raindrops in chorus. And so the rain kept coming down and the dancing continued.

"Such a very good time was had by every dancing light and every raindrop that the King of the Clouds said, 'Let us always have a dance in the city when we come forth to have a rainy evening.'

"We Wanted to Dance," Said the Electric Lights.

"The raindrops agreed and the electric lights agreed, and so ever since then in every city on a rainy night the lights have danced when the rain came down from the heavens. Sometimes the dancing is more exciting one time than another. But there is always dancing.'

"When I was once in a city after dark," said Nancy, "it seemed as if I saw the lights dancing—and it was a rainy night."

"And I saw the same," said Daddy, "for the first dance I was given by the raindrops and the lights happened a long, long time ago."

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

FARM STOCK

INCREASE SHORT-FED CATTLE

To Save Feed, Department of Agriculture Advises Against Too High Finishing of Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In view of the unfortunate experience last winter of some feeders of heavy cattle, the continued high price of grain and the uncertainty of a continuation of good prices which well-finished heavy carcasses now command, the United States department of agriculture believes that feeders should concentrate their efforts on the production of economically short-fed cattle. Of course, this statement does not refer to baby-beef production, which is a specialty within itself.

There is no question that for the last several years cattle feeders have been making beef too fat; that is, they have put more finish upon the animals than economy would justify. This idea was evidently in the minds of the advisory committee of agricultural and live stock producers appointed by the department of agriculture and the food administration when that committee recently made the following recommendation:

"We feel that cattle marketed at the present time in class 4 (long-fed or export and highly finished cattle), and known as 'exports,' owing to the high costs of labor and feed, are not an economical product, and their production should not be encouraged."

Not only has the advisory committee thus warned against the heavy feeding of cattle, but it is also understood that the government officials directing the buying policies of the government will not consider themselves responsible for the prices of very fat cattle.

Recent experiences by various state experiment stations and the United States department of agriculture have borne out the fact that good beef can be produced by using a relatively

The principle that should be avoided in future feeding operations, according to the advice of the department of agriculture, is to reduce to a minimum the amount of high-priced feed and to make judicious use of cheap roughages. In other words, instead of feeding from 50 to 60 bushels of dry corn per steer in the long feeding period, as was the custom in the past, the quantity should be, and may be profitably, reduced to 15 to 20 bushels in a shorter feeding period, or the dry corn grain can be eliminated altogether, as the liberal use of good quality silage will furnish an excellent ration. The use of cottonseed meal, linseed meal or other protein-rich feed, even though high in price, is to be highly recommended, because the higher other feeds are, the more profitable becomes the use of a protein supplement. Expensive hay may be completely eliminated in the ration by the use of a cheaper dry roughage such as corn stover, coarse hay or straw.

The department believes that by avoiding too heavy feeding and too high finish, and by following the suggestions given above, feeders should be able to feed cattle at a profit in spite of the high prices of feed and labor. The recent statement of the United States food administrator, and the available reports from foreign countries, indicate that there may be a great increase in the demand for beef, which is encouraging to the cattle feeders of this country, and especially those who suffered losses during the past feeding season.

Clean Wallow Hole Important.

A clean wallow hole is very important. Hogs may use the muddy wallow if no other is available, but if clean water is provided in a concrete wallow they will prefer it to the mudhole.

Protection From Flies.

Horses, mules and cows should be protected from flies as much as possible. Some of the prepared sprays on the market greatly help in doing this.

H. L. Connelly is able to be about after a four day tussle with a severe cold.

News of OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

It is reported that Al Welker is making arrangements to conduct a cigar stand and an eating restaurant in part of the room occupied by Fred McKenzie as a pool room.

A number of boys have been laid off from work at the Summit sole leather tannery. It is uncertain when the branch they were working in will be resumed. Boys in the finishing tannery were also laid off until their line increases in output.

There is some strange animal raising havoc among the fowls and other domestic animals near Naulton. Saturday night it raided chicken coops, scattering fowls in every direction, but killing none of them. It struck a small pig on its travels and bit the side of the face of the porker.

There is considerable sickness in town just now, but those who are ill are not dangerously so, with the exception, perhaps, of two or three persons who are afflicted with pneumonia.

The Curwensville scribe to The Progress is under obligations to J. R. Bixler, of The Herald, for a handsome almanac. The book also contains many valuable hints to farmers and householders in general. The workmanship is neat and mechanical and indicates that the work came from a shop that turns out first class work.

A few days ago an item appeared in this letter about the dogs annoying people on Irvin hill so that they could not sleep. No complaint comes that there is a horse over there, for the lack of a little exercise, keeps up such a racket at night by his jumping and tearing around that none of the people living near by can either rest or sleep at night.

Rev. Dr. T. S. Wilcox, of Williamsport, preached in the M. E. church yesterday, morning and evening to a large and appreciative audience.

A take walk was held in St. Timothy's Catholic church Saturday night. It was well patronized and turned out to be a profitable venture.

It has been called to our attention that an item appeared a week ago in Curwensville letter announcing that the mines near Luthersburg owned by the Bickford Fire company were still on fire. We wish to correct that statement so far as the ownership is concerned. The mines are owned and operated by Curwensville capital and not by the Bickford people. We stand corrected.

Charles Lesher, of Philipsburg, visited Curwensville relatives and friends Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. John Myers and brothers and sisters have received notice of the death of a nephew who was serving in the United States Marine corps.

The display of fox skins in the window of John Kelly's pool room attracted considerable attention the latter part of the week. The hides are of fine texture and color and are valuable.

Roy Brown, son of H. S. Brown, was taken down with an acute attack of influenza at his home on South Side on Friday. The present soft weather does not seem to have much affect in the spreading of the disease, as there has been quite a few cases reported within the past few days.

Doc. Smith received a communication from his son, Samuel Smith, who has been in the army for the past three years, that he has been removed from Camp Merritt to Camp Dix and that he expects to be released from further service soon and will come home to stay.

Mrs. Frank Weaver and daughter Helen, residing on North street, were taken ill on Friday night. A physician was summoned and at this writing report the afflicted ones greatly improved.

Mrs. Arthur Temple, of Lumber City, spent the week visiting with relatives in town.

Joe Jenkins employed in one of the B. R. R. offices in Pittsburgh, and just able to be about after a severe attack of the influenza, came home Saturday afternoon where he will spend several weeks with his parents.

Saturday being such a warm sunshiny day all the farmers residing west of Curwensville managed to get to town in some kind of a rig or other. It was the first trip for some of them for three months and the old town certainly looked good to their eyes.

Judging from the number of people that thronged our stores Saturday night Curwensville merchants had no complaint to make on amount of goods disposed of to customers.

Ex-Burgess Caldwell and Jon Vannie, about the only two really first-class carpenters left in Curwensville on fine construction house work at the present time, have already contracted for the construction of a half dozen modern and up-to-date dwelling houses in and near Curwensville, work to commence just as soon as weather in the spring will allow the laying of the stone foundations. It is estimated that nearly one hundred houses of one kind and another will be erected in this town during the summer months.

Frank Robison and son are engaged in wielding paint brushes up at the brick yard offices thereby making the frescoe work look brighter and the works more pleasant for the office force in which to do their work. The superintendent of that plant is going in making things pleasant and easy in which to get through with the great amount of work to be done in those offices, with supervision over three or four plants operated by this push-ahead company now operated in this vicinity. All work being done is of the first class variety.

A son of James Harvey died Wednesday at his home near Glen Richey of influenza combined with pneumonia, after an illness of several weeks. He leaves a wife and several small children. His funeral was held on Thursday afternoon. Interment in Old Hill cemetery. He was a member of the Red Men's lodge of this place. A number of members from the local lodge attended the funeral and paid a last sad tribute to their brother and comrade.

All persons who loaned beds, bedding, etc., to the Emergency hospital during the past epidemic, and wish to have the articles returned, must call Wednesday, Jan. 22, between 2 and 4 p. m. at the Borough building to identify their goods. After that time they are to be packed and stored for future use by the Red Cross.

The following list contains articles now on hand, including goods purchased by the Red Cross to the amount of $370.50.

9 night caps
4 red cross night shirts
4 baby night gowns
22 quilts
10½ dozen sheets
99 pillow slips

4 beds.

In the last issue of The "Herald" a Red Cross article notified the ladies that the sewing would be resumed, Wednesday, January 15, after our long enforced illness because of the quarantine. At the present time we are beginning work on the refugee garments. There was a much smaller turnout than should be exhibited and we would like the ladies to come, for now is the time the garments are needed.

NOW SENIOR LIEUT. LYTLE

Upon arriving in port at the end of his trip to Europe on the speedy transatlantic liner Antilles, Junior Lieut. James H. Lytle was informed that he had been promoted to the rank of Senior Lieutenant.

The promotion bears the date of September 20th last, as the Armistice was in force when word of the event, the good news was kept as a sort of "welcome home." While it is not known at this time just what Lieut. Lytle's plans may be, he has been advised by other officers in the service to continue in the service of the United States after the present war.

DAIRY

MAKE SOFT CHEESE AT HOME

Only Simple Equipment Needed to Manufacture Neufchatel and Cream in Small Quantities.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Neufchatel and cream cheese, two of the group known as soft cheese now made almost exclusively in factories with extensive equipment, can be made at home. The method is simple and does not require elaborate equipment. It offers an excellent opportunity for the disposal of surplus milk on the farm and enables farm housewives to make a fresh, wholesome and attractive food at home.

Neufchatel cheese should be made from whole milk that tests about 4 per cent, and cream cheese from milk testing 6 per cent butterfat. Both are made in this way: To a quantity of 30 pounds, or 3½ gallons of milk, add a pint of good starter or clean-flavored sour milk and stir well. Warm the milk to between 80 to 85 degrees F. Then add about eight drops of rennet which has previously been dissolved in a cupful of cold water. Stir in thoroughly and set the milk aside to curdle. Powdered pepsin (one-half the size of a pea) or one-third of a junket tablet may be used in place of the rennet. The cheese may be made without a starter, in which case the milk should be ripened (allowed to stand at 70 degrees F.) for six or seven hours before adding the rennet.

After 16 to 18 hours, the time usually necessary for proper curdling, pour the milk into a drain cloth and allow to drain from two to four hours or until practically no whey drips from the cloth. Then place the bag of curd between two clean boards, put a 5-pound weight upon it and let it stand for six or eight hours. Remove the curd from the cloth to a pail. Sprinkle two level teaspoonfuls of fine salt over it, and thoroughly mix with a potato masher until it has a smooth buttery consistency. Running the cheese through a food chopper or working it with a butter worker produces the same result.

The cheese should then be placed in a crock or enamel dish until ready for use and kept at a temperature of 50 degrees F. or below. If it is to be sold, it should be molded into small packages and wrapped in tinfoil, or packed in glass jars.

In nutritive value these cheeses compare favorably with other simple foods, especially meat. They are rich in protein and fat and are easily digested. Perhaps the most desirable ways to serve them are in the forms of salads, sandwiches and in combination with other foods such as olives, green peppers, pimentos, pickles, different kinds of nuts, various vegetables and nearly all fruits.

Cutting Before Soft Dough Stage Is Reached Is Not Good Practice.

(Prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

Cutting corn for the silo before it is ready is too general a practice. The full feeding value of the crop cannot be obtained until the soft dough stage is reached. The lower leaves will then be dead, some of the husks will have turned brown, and the ears will be hard, but the stalks and upper leaves of the plants will still be green and succulent. Cutting before this time is like marketing cattle or hogs before they are finished.

Roving Dog Is Harmful.

Dr. Hoskins says the roving dog is the worst enemy the sheep has. This parasite is quite often a source of considerable loss to the flock.

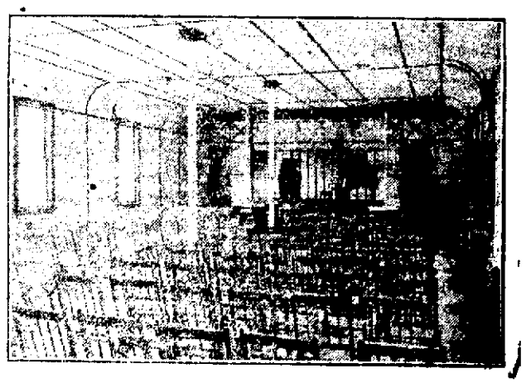
THE COLLEGE OF MUSIC AUDITORIUM MAKES AN IDEAL MUSICAL CENTER

A little more than twelve years ago an institution was born in this city that has done more than anything else for the creation of a musical atmosphere for the lovers of the expression beautiful—the Susquehanna College of Music.

On the 16th of September, 1906, the present head of the institution, Prof. H. Clark Thayer, with some associates, opened the college at the corner of Fourth and Market streets. The growth of the student body was such that, after occupying the house at 310 Cherry street and the Hollister property on Locust street successively, ground was broken at the rear of the Hollopeter lot for the present commodious home of Clearfield's musical center.

The ground floor of this large building is entirely given over to an auditorium, wherein the students of the college give frequent recitals during the school year. These recitals are an added feature of the College course which many other institutions do not possess—the appearance and performance before the public which, early in their training, creates confidence and surety in the pupil.

The auditorium is perfectly arranged as to acoustics and the pupils perform under conditions ideal for their musical training. The seating capacity is about three hundred and these musical evenings, whether given by the faculty, the primary or the more advanced pupils are delightful.



The Auditorium Susquehanna College of Music

One of these charming advanced pupils recitals, will be given in the auditorium on Thursday, January 23 at 8 o'clock.

While it has not been a common practice for the management to allow other functions to be held in the auditorium, those having particular merit are permitted to use the room. Informal affairs, private dances, receptions and lectures may be given if the strict rules of censorship of the management are met.

How Italy's Art was Saved

Cathedral of SS. John and Paul

by Prof. Ettore Cadorin

CATHEDRAL OF SS. JOHN AND PAUL, VENICE, ONE OF THE MOST FAMOUS OF THE EDIFICES OF VENICE, HOUSING MANY ART OBJECTS OF GREAT BEAUTY AND HISTORICAL VALUE (X) SHOWS WHERE AN AUSTRIAN BOMB HIT IT ON SEPT. 15, 1916

The Cathedral of SS. John and Paul in Venice is considered the Pantheon of the old Republic. It is a large, magnificent building in the Italian Gothic style, erected in the thirteenth century by the same architect who built the Cathedral of the Frari. Like Westminster Abbey, the interior of the church contains the tombs of many great men of the country. Here lie some of the greatest Doges, captains and admirals of the glorious armies and fleets of the Republic of Venice. The facade of the Cathedral has never been completely finished, but the interior presents the most imposing lines and richness of decoration.

One of the chapels, added late at the time of the maturity of the Venetian art, was specially important, having been erected in memory of the great naval battle of Lepanto, which saved Europe from invasion and the tyranny of the Turks in the sixteenth century, just as in our time the battle of the Marne saved the world from the Huns. The chapel dedicated to the Virgin of the Rosary and decorated with precious bas-reliefs in marble by Vittoria as well as fine wood carving and paintings was burnt and completely destroyed sixty years ago. My greatest misfortune was also destroyed in the same fire one of the most celebrated canvases by Titian, "The Martyrdom of St. Peter," which was just deposited in that chapel while its own frame in the church was being restored.

Great care was taken in protecting the treasures of the cathedral at the beginning of the war. All monuments were covered with scaffolds and masonry and the paintings and the precious windows of the main altar were taken away—only one canvas could not be removed, the canvas covering the ceiling of the Chapel of St. Domenico, painted by Piazzetta. This canvas was nailed to the ceiling by the painter in a way to make it impossible to be removed. On the 13th of September, 1916, an Austrian bomb hit the cathedral at the place marked by a cross in our picture, penetrated the wall and burst on the pavement, the splinters tearing to pieces that very canvas and hitting two of those monuments, but only damaging the scaffolding of sacks, which protected perfectly the marbles. I will speak of these monuments in my next article.

HUSBAND AND WIFE ARE EQUALLY AIDED

Mrs. S. W. Seltzer, 4529 N. 16th St., Phila., whose husband is with the Link Belt Co., tells how she and Mr. Seltzer were aided through Tanlac. "I suffered from rheumatism and my husband had stomach trouble. I had so much difficulty with my knees being stiff and sore that I could only go upstairs with difficulty. I heard about Tanlac and after I used it I was able to go up and down stairs without pain or effort. My husband's stomach trouble is greatly relieved. We both speak highly of Tanlac."

The genuine Tanlac, which bears the name J. J. Gore Co., on outside carton, is now sold here by Stewart Drug Co., Woodward & McPherson, and other leading druggists. Tanlac the celebrated vegetable tonic, stomachic and health builder, is also sold in neighboring cities and towns. Ask for it.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSES GROWING

Receipts from automobile licenses for 1919 at the automobile registration division of the State Highway department amount to more than half a million dollars more than the revenue for 1918 licenses did at this time last year. Applications for licenses fill the mail and the state treasury is receiving from $25,000 to $35,000 a day from the licenses.

The aggregate of the revenue recieved thus far for 1919 licenses is $2,146,000 with every indication that the $3,000,000 mark will be passed before the end of the month.

There have been 178,000 pneumatic tired automobiles licensed, this being in excess of the number licensed to be middle of January last year and about 30,000 solid tired machines. There is also an increase in the number of motorcycles licensed.

OBITUARY

FORMER COUNTY COMMISSIONER DEAD

J. S. Richards former County Commissioner of Clearfield county, passed away at the home of his sister in Osceola Sunday night last. Mr. Richards had been suffering from a slight attack of influenza at his home in Curwenvsille and went to Altoona Friday last to attend the funeral of a sister. On his way home Saturday he developed pneumonia and his sister who accompanied him, had him removed from the train at Osceola and taken to her home for medical treatment. He grew rapidly worse until the end came as above stated.

Si Richards was about 72 years of age and was one of the best known lumberman in Clearfield county. He is survived by three sons and one daughter.

ROBERT BISHOP POHE

On Sabbath morning at nine o'clock Robert Bishop Pohe, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Pohe, passed away. For the past week the little child was a great sufferer, and all that human hands could do was done to relieve him. The Great Master had called him, and nothing could hold him here. The deep sympathy of all is extended to the parents in this their great loss. Mr. Pohe left with the body last night for Bloomsburg, accompanied by his sister, Miss Minnie Pohe.

YOUNG MOTHER DIES

Mrs. Fred Bartley, who had been a sufferer from influenza for some time passed away at her home in Reedsville last evening.

Mrs. Jessie Flegal Bartley was born in Clearfield twenty-one years ago. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Flegal, of Dorey street, and was a sincere Christian young woman, a loving wife and devoted mother. Her untimely death is a particularly hard blow to her loved ones and made doubly sad by the fact that her infant child died early Sunday morning.

She was married to Fred Bartley in February, 1917. She is survived by her husband and one child. Her parents and several brothers and sisters survive her. The husband is lying critically ill from influenza.

The first attempt to manufacture iron in America was made in Virginia three hundred years ago this year.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT CHURCHES

The spring-like day in mid January and the passing of the epidemic accounted in part for the increased attendance at the church services yesterday. Trinity Methodist church had the largest number of people out since September. The Sunday school lacked thirty scholars of reaching the four hundred mark. The Epworth League had a record meeting in point of attendance and interest, Walter B. Kennard being the leader. The pastor's sermon on the "Power of the Holy Spirit" gripped the attention of the hearers. The evening congregation entered enthusiastically into the singing of the hymns in celebration of the temperance victory and gave close attention to the splendid address of District Attorney Arnold who outlined some of the steps by which the ratification of the prohibition amendment has been accomplished. The speaker also stated clearly the things that the citizens of this country must do to insure the carrying into effect the laws which the governmen makes. It was an eloquent appeal to the people to do their part that the great victory won in the commonwealths of our union shall bring the promised relief from the blight of the liquor traffic in every hamlet, town and city throughout the land. The pastor followed with an earnest exhortation to the unsaved to get right with God.

The evangelistic meetings will be continued this week.
